SKILLS & INTERSTS

Development

The ability to implement highly polished and intuitive user interfaces is the basis of my development process. Having a strong grasp regarding the fundamental aspects of design & development working together helps me to keep the workflow organized. Learning new ways to translate designs from specification to actuality is the focus of my development.

Integration of the user facing website to the serverside languages is a particular interest of mine. The ability of continuous learning in the field of software engineering is something I love. In addition to the front end markup and styling languages I have been exposed to JavaScript, Python, & C++. Learning more technologies is something I look forward too digging deeper into.

Design

Fundamentally every project gets its start in the design phase. A deep working knowledge of industry standard tools are needed to accoplish this goal. I have extensive exposure to the Adobe Suite as well as Sketch, The versitility of these tools allows for a cohesive process of design within a team.
